NEW AND ELEGANT FALL and WIN-TER styles of Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.—A large and splendid assortment just received and for sale at reasonable prices, at Hat, Cap, and Gentlemen's Furnishing Establishment, sep 18—Staw2wif [News.] Pa. av., near 4½ st. Transition Coal.

Transition Coal.

This rare and valuable Coal is a variety not quite changed into an anthracite, and it has only been discovered (in large quantities) at three places upon our globe, viz: at South Wales, Great Britain; at Donetz, in Russia, near the Black Sea; and at Dauphin and Lebanon counties, Pennsylvania. In the London market this coal commands the highest price. It is now mined upon the large estate (43,000 acress) of the Dauphin and Susquehanna Coal Company, situated in Pennsylvania, and it is nearer to the cities of Baltimore and Washington than the coal of any other region. For easy ignition, durability of fire, complete combustion, easy adaptation to the temperature of the weather, and its great power in generating heat, it is the user coal in the world. It has the inflammability of the bitumificus coal, with the cleanliness of the autiracite, and a greater durability than either. It burns without making any soot or visible smoke, and the combustion is so complete that it retains the fire until all the coal is consumed. Not so with the antiracities, especially the hard and heavy kinds. They do not burn up, and hence the common troublesome practice of sifting their ashes to obtain more fuel. In burning the Transition Coal there is no waste, for the small coals made by handling, burn as well as ordinary coal. All should be burned together. If screened at all the duri only should be taken out.

A very erroneous impression exists with many persons that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary

A very erroneous impression exists with many persons that the heaviest coals are the most economical for ordinary purposes. This might be the case if coals were sold by measurement, but never when they are sold by waters. If Taylor's valuable work, (Statistics of Coal,) the details are given to show that 31 pounds of a free-burning red ash yielded more heat to a room in 15 hours, than 37 pounds of a heavy white ash coal, making the red ash, at $5 50, to be more economical than the white ash at $4 51 per ton. Any person accustomed to use these heavy coals will be astonished at the saving which can be made in burning the lighter kinds, when tested by the weight and burnt in a suitable manner.

An apprehension exists with some that the free-burning coals have a tendency to clinker. Now, as a general rule, no coal will clinker unless a greater draught be applied to it than the coal naturally requires. No one would think of applying a bellows constantly to a fire made of seasoned hickory or oak wood, and it would be equally as absurd to apply a blast constantly to a free-burning coal. But the heavy white ash anthracites cannot be burnt without a powerful draft, and without using a larger quantity of coal than the temperature of the weather sometimes requires. Various patterns of stores, furnaces, cooking ranges, &c., are invented annually to conquer this difficulty, but it has never been done with complete success In every contrivance, however, which has been invented to burn coal, the transition variety will make a beautiful fire, and no compleint will ever be made to a manufacturer or seller of grates or stores when this coal is used. The draft alone is to be regulated by a damper. In introducing this new cosl for the first time, prepared as it now is by steam power machinery for domestic use, it may give greater confidence to the buyer to say that the celebrated free-burning red ash veins in the Peach Orchard district, near Pottsville, are a continuation of the Dauphin series, and they approach the nearest in value to the Transition coal.

Shipments of the Transition coal have already been made to the District of Columbia, and it can be obtained at retail from the following persons:

Wm. T. Dove, Washington. Woodford Stone, Washington. An apprehension exists with some that the free-burning

No young man can read this work without profit. Its counsels are not only safe, but have an elevation and freshness which adapts them to the present times. They show an intimate knowledge of even the most secret springs of human action. It is not a book of mere declamation; the reader will find it profound as well as lively. We noticed the book with approbation on its first appearance, and we rejoice to know that it has already reached its fifth edition.—Northern Christian Adeceate.

THE YOUNG LADY'S COUNSELLOR; or, Outlines and Illustrations of the Sphere, the Duties, and the Dangers of Young Women. Designed to be a guide to true happiness in this life, and to Glory in the life which is to come. By Rev. Daniel Wise, A. M.

This work has been received with very great favor where ever it is known. The editor of the Northern Christian Advocate says: "We had heard good things of this work, and on reading it, most cheerfully add our testimony to its meris. It is not adventurous in its flight—sims at no terra incognia; but most gently and assiduously cultivates ground already known. Its sage counsels, enlivened with illustrations, are worth of a place in every lady's mind. The style is not ornate—it is better—flowing life the limpid, transparent brook over its pebbly be d. diffusing health and pleasure wherever it goes. The work is not wanting in nerve and originality: it is sufficiently removed from that class of jejune and forceless compilations seissored from preceding authors, and glued together by the mere book-maker. For the objects had in view, it is one of the best works we have ever seen.
